Sixty-one parents are happy with the outcome of a concern they had raised, 37 of them strongly so. We are pleased to see that parents feel able to approach the school with a concern and continue to urge anyone with any queries or concerns to get in touch. We will always do our very best to ensure your child has a very positive and happy primary school experience.

The school supports my child's wider personal development

The school helps me to support my child's learning at home

As a direct response to this feedback and to the feedback we received during home learning, we organised parent maths sessions. These were held on Zoom and were very well attended with positive feedback. We will implement sessions for other subjects later in the year.

The school lets me know how my child is doing

One parent responded “I would welcome more teacher parent feedback but recognise this was impacted last year through the pandemic”. This may well be the case for the other “disagree” responses.

Under normal conditions, parents receive updates on their child’s attainment every half term. This equates to three parents evenings per year and three written reports per year (Christmas, Easter and Summer). Parents of children with special needs have additional meetings. If parents are concerned about their child’s progress between these reports, teachers are always happy to provide information on an individual basis, either face to face or over the phone. Please contact your child’s class teacher to make a mutually convenient appointment.

The school provides a good range of after school activities

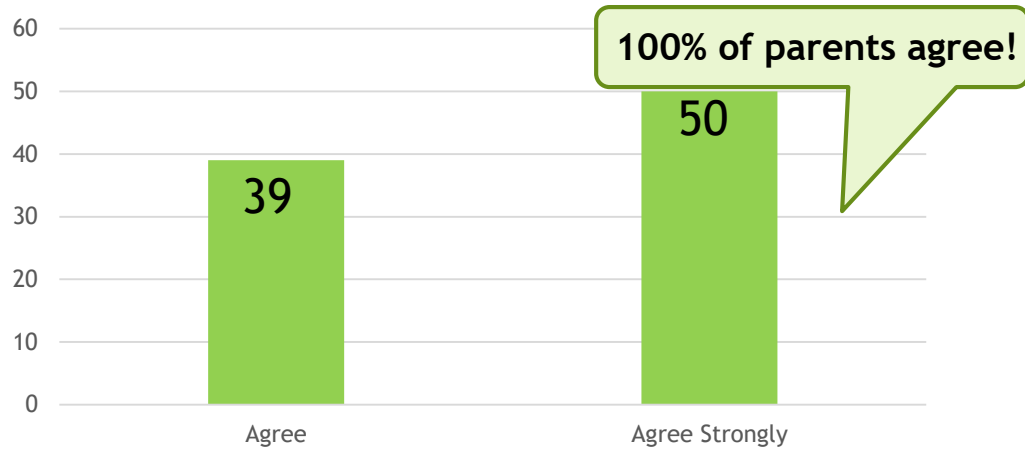

We were very surprised at the response to this question as we had thought that we would have an overwhelmingly positive result. We average twenty after school activities per week, with at least two activities each day. Activities on offer include sport, music, dance, art, craft, science and computing.

Discussion with parents indicated that some of our families would welcome some free of charge after school activities. We have introduced some FOC activities as a result.

Some parents pointed to the fact that the activities tend to take place after school and pupils who attend Madrasa or have other commitments after school cannot attend. We have therefore introduced some lunchtime clubs and some before school clubs (tennis and netball).

Some parents felt that the activities on offer are sport-heavy. This may have been the case during the Summer Term when we could only mix bubbles outside.
